The author addresses the Icodenses who sailed to Louisiana (Chapter X, pp.205-218). He suggests that valuable genealogical material on these Icodenses might be found in the Archivo Historico Provincial de Santa Cruz de Tenerife, in Leg. 2606 (October 28, 1778), Leg. 2607 (January 14, 15, & 19, 1779). He also touches on the strange case of the San Pedro, which, although destined for Louisiana, ended up in Venezuela (p.213).

NOTE: Originally published between 1772 and 1783, this monumental work explores the early history and institutions of the Canary Islands. It describes the individual islands, and provides an amazing amount of information on many of the towns and villages, including population statistics, military command structure, and usually a description of the churches and convents in the towns. Once the researcher has discovered the name of the town where his ancestor lived, he should read Viera y Clavijo's c.1772 description of that town. A very important source!

NOTE: Gilbert Din comments that Tornero Tinajero was in error when he stated (in the English translation, p.384), that the recruits came only from Tenerife, Gran Canaria, and Lanzarote (Din, 1988, p.17, note 6). Din notes that this article pursues the argument that the recruitment hurt the development of the islands.
